“ Grandpa,

I want to thank you for taking me into your home while I recovered from the car accident when I was a young teenager. I want to thank you for the many family gatherings hosted in your home and the joy that you gave me by bringing the family together. I want to thank you for the vegetable garden with its giant pumpkins and ten foot tall corn. And I especially want to thank you for the berry farm and the many summers of picking (and eating) berries. A few years ago when I visited, as I drove up the driveway to your home, I was saddened to see the berry farm had been replaced with a pine plantation. But you washed the sadness away. The joy and excitement I saw in your smile, as you took me and my son, Aris, your great grandson, out to the plantation to show us the resident deer, reminded me of the joy and excitement you showed every time we would come to visit as children and the love you gave me and the rest of us grandchildren. You taught us lessons, some of them fun and some of them hard. Sometimes we may have let you down, but you were always there to give us support when we really needed it and you never stopped loving us. Coming home to visit will never be the same again. I miss you.

*I love you grandpa,
Stephan*

“ I miss you grandpa. Thank you for all the little things you gave to us. The bags of candy from the store. Holding my hand and telling me stories of being in the WWII. For the stops you didn't want to make while on vacation - but grandma made you. For always choosing a motel with a swimming pool. for growing your garden. For being so strong and having so much fight in you. I really miss you today, Grandpa. Jeremy shared this photo and it made me smile. I love you.
